

Inquiring Minds

Learning and Literacy in Early Adolescence

Creating Communities of Learning
& Excellence

Northwest Regional
Educational Laboratory

Creating Communities of Learning & Excellence

This monograph is part of a series from NWREL to assist in school improvement. Publications are available in five areas:

Re-Engineering—Assists schools, districts, and communities in reshaping rules, roles, structures, and relationships to build capacity for long-term improvement

Quality Teaching and Learning—Provides resources and strategies for teachers to improve curriculum, instruction, and assessment by promoting professional learning through reflective, collegial inquiry

School, Family, and Community Partnerships—Promotes child and youth success by working with schools to build culturally responsive partnerships with families and communities

Language and Literacy—Assists educators in understanding the complex nature of literacy development and identifying multiple ways to engage students in literacy learning that result in highly proficient readers, writers, and speakers

Assessment—Helps schools identify, interpret, and use data to guide planning and accountability

This publication has been funded at least in part with federal funds from the U.S. Department of Education under contract number ED-01-CO-0013. The content of this publication does not necessarily reflect the views or policies of the U.S. Department of Education or any other agency of the U.S. government.

Inquiring Minds

Learning and Literacy in Early Adolescence

December 2002

Maureen Sherry Carr, Ph.D., Child and Family Program

Steffen Saifer, Ed.D., Director, Child and Family Program

Rebecca Novick, Ph.D., Unit Manager, Literacy and Language Development

Northwest Regional
Educational Laboratory
101 S.W. Main Street, Suite 500
Portland, OR 97204

Acknowledgments

Appreciation is extended to the many educators and researchers who provided information and guidance in the revision of this publication. Grateful acknowledgment is given to the review panel for their valuable input: Jane Braunger, Bonita Coleman-Potter, Mary Elizabeth Curtis, Patricia Day, Susan Dauer, Sonja Grove, Neville Hosking, Elaine McManus, and Karen Piepmeier. Special thanks to Eugenia Cooper Potter for editorial review and technical editing, Linda Fitch for bibliographic review, and Denise Crabtree for design and production.

Cover image by Jerry Kruger.