

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	1
High-Performing Learning Communities	3
Using Research To Inform Practice and Practice To Inform Research	4
Helen Gordon Child Development Center:
Doing Things With Words in the Real World	7
Creating a Supportive Literacy Environment	8
Nurturing Emotional Literacy Through Language Experience	9
A Family-Like Atmosphere	11
A Mix of Planned and Child-Initiated Activities	12
Opportunities To Read, Read, Read	14
Predictable Books	15
Conclusion	17
Whittier Elementary: Highlight My Strengths	19
Using an Enrichment Model: “What Can We Do Differently?”	20
Building on and Expanding Children’s Vocabulary and Background Knowledge	21
Success Through Multiple Pathways	23
A Comprehensive Literacy Program	25
Creating Elegant Areas for Reading	27
Writing for Authentic Purposes	28
Ongoing Assessment Through Running Records and Retellings	29
Learning and Growing in Two Languages: Impressive Gains on the State Assessment	30
Supporting Teachers and Families	33
The Family as First Teacher	34
Focus on Early Intervention	35
Finding Books in Spanish	36
Conclusion	37
Cherry Valley Elementary School: A Collective Vision	39
Making a Difference for All Children	41
Professional Development: Learning as Transformation	42
Supporting Reflective Practice	42
In the Beginning: The Power of a Team Approach	44
“Every Child Counts”	45
Changing Practices	45
Starting Where the Learner Is	47
Literacy Strategies From New Zealand	47
Doug Crosby’s Classroom	49
Writing for an Audience	52

An Array of Literacy Activities53
Reading, Writing, and Nurturing55
Literacy Week55
A Busy Publishing Center55
Family Engagement: Multiple Opportunities for Participation56
Family Fun Nights57
Traveling Books58
Authors' Parties58
Creating a Child and Family Support Program: The Polson Partnership Project58
Having Fun61
Reducing Cultural Discontinuity for Culturally Diverse Students61
Child and Family Partners63
Expanding the Culture of Inquiry65
Closing the Achievement Gap67
Conclusion68
Integrating Students' Culture and Language Into the Curriculum:
Unpacking the Canoe at Tulalip Elementary School71
Revitalizing Native Languages72
Teaching Lushootseed in School76
Incorporating Literature and Culture: The Tulalip-Based Classroom78
Reading in the Tulalip-Based Classroom79
More Than Content80
Listening to Families and the Community81
Differing Perspectives on Language Preservation85
Language in Real Contexts88
"It Is Important to Learn Our Language So We Know Who We Are"88
Conclusion90
Conclusion93
The Moral Purpose of Education96
Appendix: Children's Literature Web Sites99
References109